Optimize Gut Well-Being

Maintaining gut balance is vital to overall health. Seventy percent of the body's immune system is in your gut lining.

Heavily-processed foods, GMOs, gluten, and environmental toxins such as herbicides and animal antibiotics destroy the healthy bacteria in your digestive tract. These toxins may penetrate through your gut lining into the circulatory system, leading to immune system decline, which can result in a breakdown of overall health and well-being.

Restore's™ Lignite Extract was developed by a team of world-renowned scientists and leading physicians to support the integrity of your intestinal walls. This creates a stable environment where good gut bacteria can grow and thrive, helping you to promote immune system function, supporting optimal well-being.
